History

Vision & Principles

Our school's vision and principles for History

At John Henry Newman Academy, we strive to spark the children's natural curiosity about the past. Our History is designed to cultivate critical thinking skills and historical concepts that can be applied across different historical periods. This approach prepares our children for lifelong learning by equipping them with the necessary tools to explore and understand the complexities of history.

Humanities teaching and learning at JHN is good when;

We develop a fascination with artefacts and sources from the past.

We engage in the historical and geographical process through fieldwork.

We are encouraged to be curious about the past and the world around us.

We learn the skills we need to become future historians and geographers.

We can ask and answer questions using historical and geographical vocabulary.
